ANATOMY OF A DEAL Part One: Law, Banking & Title

Have you ever wondered when certain aspects of a commercial real estate project occur? Do you want to learn more about how each real estate professional plays a role in these projects? If so, please join us for a three-part marketplace lunch series with an in-depth look into the "Anatomy of a Deal". You'll hear from CREW real estate professionals as they tell you, through their own words, how they each fit into the puzzle -- whether through closing, design, construction or management. In Part One, an attorney, a lender, and a title insurance underwriter will give you the inside scoop on their involvement at the inception of a deal.
